

HANDS OFF, SAYS WILSON

Doesn't Want Congress in the Foreign Situation

NO RESOLUTION ON ARMED VESSELS

The Settlement to Be Made by Him and Lansing

Washington, Feb. 24.—President Wilson is unchanged in his opposition to having Congress pass any resolution warning Americans to keep off armed merchantmen of the European belligerents, and Congress leaders have been so advised.

It was stated authoritatively yesterday that discussion of such a move did not come up at the president's conference Monday night with Chairman Stone and Flood of the Congress committees dealing with foreign affairs and with Democratic Leader Kern, but was revived in quite another way.

The official account is that Senator Smith of Georgia recently went to Senator Gore to discuss the form in which such a resolution might be introduced if it were found necessary. It was said Senator Stone at that time opposed such a resolution.

The White House conference, it was said authoritatively, was held so the president might discuss the exact status of the submarine negotiations with Congress leaders.

Congressmen who were at the White House yesterday said there was slight probability of the passage of Senator Gore's resolution to warn Americans off belligerent merchantmen unless it should receive administration sanction. Just now the president wants to be free to handle the international situation and desires as little discussion in Congress as possible.

FAVORABLE TO MR. FLETCHER

The Senate Committee Would Make Him Ambassador—Republicans Oppose Mexican Appointment.

Washington Feb. 24.—Henry Prather Fletcher's nomination as ambassador to Mexico was ordered reported to the Senate yesterday by the foreign relations committee with the recommendation that it be confirmed as soon as possible.

Senator Borah and Senator Smith of Michigan, Republicans, voted against the recommendation.

Previous to Mr. Fletcher's confirmation, Consul Carothers will act as special representative of the United States before the Carranza government.

Several months will elapse before Mr. Fletcher, now minister to Chile, can take up his new duties, even if he is confirmed at once.

The annual rivers and harbors appropriation bill, aggregating $29,000,000 in direct appropriations and authorization for expenditures in various parts of the country, was favorably reported to the House. The bill is a net out of about $40,000,000 from the estimates. A lively fight over the New York harbor appropriation and other new projects is in prospect.

Thousands of Families Rely On This Kidney Medicine

About nine years ago, the doctor had given me up, saying I had kidney trouble, enlargement of the liver and stomach trouble; that there was no medicine for me that he knew of that would help me, and, hearing of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I bought one fifty-cent bottle, which did me so much good I bought six one-dollar bottles. After taking this amount of Swamp-Root, I was completely cured and have not consulted a physician since and am doing my own work every day. When I feel any of the old symptoms coming on, I go back to my old friend, Swamp-Root, which immediately gives me relief.

Very truly yours,

MRS. J. J. WEIDENTHALER, Grand Island, Nebr.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of October, 1915, Mrs. J. J. Weidenthaler, who subscribed to the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

THEO. P. BOEHM, Notary Public.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do for You. Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. Where writing be sure and mention The Barre Daily Times. Regular 50c and $1.00 size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

PURE RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale—is responsible for more ailments than anything else.

It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles.

It is responsible for run-down conditions, and is the most common cause of disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles, and building up the whole system. Get it to-day.—Adv.

55 LAWYERS HIT BRANDEIS NOW

Boston Men Make Fresh Charges—Allege Double Dealing.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Massing their final attack on Louis D. Brandeis, fifty-five Boston lawyers, through their counsel, Austen G. Fox, yesterday preferred three new charges of "double dealing" against the president's nominee for the supreme bench.

These charges are:

That in 1906 he acted for a protective committee of stockholders against the officers of the Equitable Life Insurance company and that within nine months he appeared for the company as opposed to George C. Peters, a stockholder.

That he acted as attorney for a Mr. Stewart against the officers of the Gillette Safety Razor company, alleging mismanagement, and that within a few months he deserted these citizens and aided Gillette against them.

That he aided E. H. Harriman to gain control of the Illinois Central railroad from Stuyvesant Fish in a deal that caused Col. Roosevelt to call Mr. Harriman an undesirable citizen. It was at this time that Mr. Brandeis was alleged to have attacked officers of the Boston and Maine for the same practices that he aided Harriman to perform with the Illinois Central, according to the fifty-five Boston lawyers.

Mr. Fox yesterday alleged that Mr. Brandeis denied before a legislative committee in Massachusetts that he had ever acted directly or indirectly for Mr. Harriman, but had said his partner had. Waddill Catchings, of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., will be produced, Mr. Fox said, to prove that Mr. Brandeis personally appeared.

TRYING TO COLLECT JUDGMENT.

Action is Against Wife of Man in Bankruptcy.

Brattleboro, Feb. 24.—Judge Frank L. Fish of Vergennes is holding a chancery session in the office of the county clerk. The often tried case of Edson E. Rowley and his wife, Martha E. Rowley, against George W. Shephardson is now in hearing. This is a suit that has been before the courts over six years, and grew out of alleged fraud in the sale of a piece of real estate to the plaintiff. Judgment was obtained against Shephardson, who had gone into bankruptcy, and the attempt is being made at present to collect the judgment from Mrs. Shephardson. All of the parties are from Londonderry. The amount involved is about $1,000.

Chase and Chase and W. R. Daley are for the Rowleys and H. G. & F. E. Barber of Brattleboro, and Loren R. Pierce of South Londonderry appear for the Shephardsons.

Whose Fault?

All is supposition as to the responsibility for the accident on the New York and New Haven railroad yesterday—the first serious accident since Mr. Elliott became president of the road on July 19, 1913. A rear-end collision, with block signals in order, is, of course, somebody's fault. Such a collision cannot take place without dereliction somewhere. But all the men who were immediately concerned in the fatal error are dead, and no one knows what excuse of circumstances they had. The scene and the situation were of the most confusing sort. All three trains, the express, the following local, and the freight train on the inner west-bound track, were going in the same direction. It is assumed that the freight train may have so enveloped the track in its smoke and steam, and so filled the air with its roar, that the engineer of the oncoming local was unaware what he was doing. Whether or not that was the case we may never know; but a most thorough inquiry is needed to develop the circumstances, and to determine whether the semaphore warning indicated surely the presence of the express train on the block. If it did, the man who was responsible for the disaster has paid for his mistake with his life—and has also imputed with him all the dead in this accident.

An inquiry will also determine whether the New Haven management is to be charged with putting any such pressure upon its trainmen, in meeting the current congestion of business, as to have dulled the edge of their vigilance. Nothing has yet developed which would bear out this assumption. There has been no such speeding up as to suggest such an explanation. Every disposition will be left to credit the present management of the road with an earnest effort to secure safety of operation. But the public will anxiously await light on the details. The verdict cannot be, "Nobody to blame." Somebody was to blame. But the man who was wholly to blame may be forever beyond rebuke or liability.—Boston Transcript.

How People Catch Anthrax.

"People catch anthrax from contact with diseased cattle or horses," says Farm and Fireside, "or with wool or leather from diseased animals. Before the medical world knew what it was, many people died from contracting the disease through wearing shoes made of the hides of animals which had died of anthrax. The germs of the disease are the most resistant known. Twenty years of drying will not kill them. 'There is hope that Dr. Adolph Eichhorn of the United States department of agriculture has perfected a cure for this disease in the form of an antitoxin. It is well if this is so, for the disease in human beings seems to be becoming more prevalent.

CARRANZA TO QUIT?

The Mexican Situation Is Reported as Becoming Critical

OBREGON RUMORED AS SUCCESSOR

Senate Committee Urges Confirming Fletcher as Soon as Possible

Washington, Feb. 24.—According to reports reaching the president almost daily from the American consuls and the various secret agents of the administration, conditions across the Rio Grande are going from bad to worse so fast that the matter of armed intervention is again the subject of serious consideration.

The power of Carranza appears to be weakening in all parts of the country, and the fact that he dares not appear in Mexico City, but finds it better part of caution to maintain a moving capital and head for the interior is looked upon by those in Washington who know their Mexico as forecasting his fall, even as the pretending government, before many months. Obregon, to whom Carranza owes most of his military success in the past, has been under suspicion and Carranza has kept him under observation amounting almost to military surveillance. Yesterday's reports show Carranza heading toward the interior, but it would not surprise the administration to hear some time soon that he was making his plans to abandon Mexico altogether. In that event Obregon, who apparently now is free of Carranza, would probably come to power and immediately be compelled to confront a combination of the armies of bandits who under various chiefs for months laid waste the greater part of Mexico.

Those in the confidence of Mr. Wilson report him to be viewing with less concern than formerly the spread of anarchy in Mexico. The feeling at the White House is represented to be that if armed intervention comes in the middle of summer the effect will help rather than hurt the president's chances of re-election, and will serve to suppress the criticism of his foreign policy, which has received from the speech of Mr. Root a stimulus that makes it a source of much embarrassment to the president and his party leaders. Should the fall of the Carranza government come while the campaign is on and the president take that occasion to send an army into Mexico, the White House is banking on the belief that the country would be disposed to rally to the president's support. The failure of the mission of Colonel House to secure an invitation to serve the warring powers as mediator has dashed the hopes of the administration in that direction, but the news from Mexico indicates the possibility that while the president cannot enter the campaign as the probable peacemaker in Europe, he may yet be enabled by the course of events across the Rio Grande to make himself the peacemaker of Mexico by means of an army of pacification.

DUPONT CO., BIG SPECIAL DIVIDEND

Five Per Cent in Cash and 19 Per Cent in War Bonds.

Washington, Dec. 1, 24.—The directors of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company have declared a special dividend of five per cent in cash and 19 per cent in Anglo-French bonds at 95, with interest, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent on the common stock. The dividends are payable March 15 to holders of record of Feb. 29.

The directors also have declared the regular quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent on the debenture stock, payable April 2 to holders of record of March 20. The regular quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent has been declared on the old DuPont common stock, payable May 1.

The last quarterly dividend of the DuPont de Nemours company was one and one-half per cent, regular, and 28 1/2 per cent extra, paid on December 15.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear, and you can breathe freely. No more yawning, sniffling, blowing, headache, dizziness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relieves cures instantly. It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—Adv.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapiesin" Makes Sick, Sour, Gassy Stomachs Feel Fine

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dysepptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapiesin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered, you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapiesin" is quick, positive, and puts your stomach in a healthy condition, so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears, and you feel fine.

Go, now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.—Adv.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS JUMP

An Increase of About $10,000,000 in Tax Collections in Lower Manhattan District.

New York, Feb. 24.—John Z. Lowe, Jr., internal revenue collector of the district comprising the lower parts of Manhattan island, estimated yesterday that the internal revenue tax collections from that district for the year ending June 30 would amount to $35,000,000, possibly $40,000,000. The collections in that district exceed the aggregate collected from 31 states.

Mr. Lowe attributes the prospective increase of upwards of $9,000,000 in the collections from this district to new bond issues of corporations, transfers and the effect of the emergency act. He regards the increase as a reliable barometer of business prosperity.

CORN CROP MENACED.

Warm Weather Threatens Much Ruin in the West.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—A loss of many millions of dollars in corn is threatening the farmers of the northern corn belt, comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, South Dakota and portions of Nebraska that are current at the board of trade.

Millions of acres of corn which failed to ripen properly because of the wet weather of the summer were nipped by the frost before hardening. The corn remained in a soft condition through the winter and now the impending warm weather threatens to ruin it before it can be shipped to market.

A railroad car shortage throughout the entire West increases the probabilities of great loss.

CRONES LEAVES COUNTRY.

Chicago Poisoner Now Said to Be On High Seas.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Chief Bielaski of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, yesterday received a letter from a woman in Chicago, declaring she has knowledge that Jean Crones, whom the Chicago police suspect of attempting to poison several hundred persons at a banquet in that city recently, had left this country and is now on the high seas. Chief Bielaski sent the information in the letter to H. G. Clabaugh of the Chicago bureau, directing him to turn it over to the Chicago police. Mr. Bielaski declined to give the address of the letter writer.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Young Performers in "When Dreams Come True," Friday Evening.

"When Dreams Come True," the first musical comedy written by Philip Bartholomae, author of "Little Miss Brown" and "Over Night," will be produced at the Barre opera house Friday night, Feb. 25. Barrio Hein, who composed the music, will be remembered as the composer of the scores of Marie Camille's most pronounced successes and of other well known works.

The three acts of "When Dreams Come True," are entirely different in outline, the first carrying some dramatic touches, as well as a number of comic situations, the second being farcical, and the third having musical and dancing features.

The play contains nearly a score of dancing numbers showing the newest inventions of the ballet as well as other famous dancers, in addition to the latest variations of the Brazilian, fox-trot, tango and the other popular dances.

The song hits are many and include among others, "When Dreams Come True," "Who's the Little Girl?" "Come Along to the Movies," "You, Dear, You," and "Dear World."

The acting company is one of the largest ever seen in a musical comedy, the principal parts requiring the services of more than 20 people, in addition to the chorus. The chorus numbers 24 exceptionally handsome and shapely young girls, who act as a background for the principals and wear some of the most stunning gowns ever shown on the musical comedy stage.—adv.

CURRENT COMMENT

Dillingham and Charles True Wilson.

Senator William P. Dillingham, in a recent letter concerning certain utterances of the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, who has been speaking at various Vermont points, does not give that speaker a clean bill of health. The Rev. Mr. Wilson is alleged to have stated that the Senate committee before which the proposed amendment to the federal constitution providing for national prohibition is pending declared through its chairman that the committee would wait until they heard the result of the election on state-wide prohibition in Vermont on March 7. Mr. Dillingham unqualifiedly states that the sub-committee of the judiciary committee, in whose charge the proposed amendment is, disavows having made the alleged remark to the Rev. Mr. Wilson and the members state that they did not know the gentleman, never had any conversation with him and furthermore that not a member of the judiciary committee outside of Mr. Dillingham even knew that Vermont was going to have an election on the proposition. It is evidently up to the out-of-the-state spellbinder to clear himself of the implication that he made a false statement from a public platform for the purpose of influencing his hearers.—Rutland News.

Wishes to Honor Us.

It seems that The Barre Times is still of the impression that The Evening News was not quite just in its recent comment about the comparative bounded indebtedness of its city and Rutland, in view of the comparative financial condition of the two towns.

It will be remembered that this newspaper in its original comment ventured the guess that Barre had a small sinking fund to counterbalance part of its outstanding indebtedness. This allowance was made despite the fact that the statement of the finances of Barre that elicited the comment, published in The Times itself, did not include any such sinking fund.

This newspaper has no desire to unduly prolong a discussion that is very inconsequential at best. However, it is its desire to be absolutely fair, and it reiterates its former concession to the effect that if the excess of Barre's net bonded indebtedness over that of Rutland, $9,378, is not "considerably larger than that of Rutland," this paper is very glad to stand corrected.

The News also emphasizes its previous statement that the Barre sinking fund is $75,865, as well as its assertion "Barre is in a very satisfactory financial condition," our only contention being that Rutland's condition is better. The News does this, not feeling that it originally did Barre any injustice whatever, but simply to humor a most excellent and highly esteemed contemporary.—Rutland News.

Anarchist Etiquette.

When a poisoner sits at large gives up his finger-print, a confession, his biography, an explanation of his motives, and a description of his disguises, it is easy to call him a lunatic, and let it go at that. But when he is both an anarchist and a Frenchman, there is more to it. Mad or sane, he is true to the etiquette of French anarchism. He is repeating in America the tragic ceremonial made notorious by Garnier four years ago in France, and the culminating rite is still to be performed.

An automobile bandit was Garnier. He and his merry men would lurk in a forest, hold up an automobile, shoot or disperse its occupants, hang a false number on the car and, jumping aboard hasten to the nearest town, where under threat of gunfire, they would loot a bank in broad daylight. Off rushed their car, then, before gendarmes could arrive. In some thickets or woods they divided their spoils, abandoned the auto and fled in several directions. Thereupon they began challenging the police, Garnier sent them a full account of himself, along with his portrait. The others, through fellow-anarchists, made known their identity. Shortly after a similar crime was committed in the same way by another anarchist group. There was the same defiance, the same disclosure of identities.

Two man-hunts followed, and two battles strangely alike. In each instance the anarchists took refuge in a stone out-house with narrow windows, through which they shot down their assailants. In the first battle the police at last advanced by pushing ahead of them a cart loaded with hay. The out-house was burned. In the second battle the police used metal shields and, after running desperate risks despite this, dynamited the out-house. Garnier was found dead. Beside him was his half-finished "will," beginning, "I am a great man."

According to the etiquette of his tribe, our French anarchist poison-monger, should be preparing a similar denouement; but, also according to the etiquette of his tribe, he will postpone the fatal day as long as possible. Although he has told the police about bleaching his hair, he can still dye it—probably has done so before this; and the French anarchists have other and more baffling tricks. One is to change the shape of

Not What He Expected.

As the brisk philanthropist thrust her fare into the taxi driver's hand she saw that he was wet and apparently cold after the half hour of pouring rain.

"Do you ever take anything when you get soaked through?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am," said the driver, with humility. "I generally do."

"Wait here just a minute," commanded the philanthropist; and she ran up her steps, inserted her key in the lock, opened the door, and vanished, to reappear in a moment. When she had come down to the taxi-man she gave him a small envelope. There are some two-grain aspirin tablets," said she; "and take two of them now and two more in an hour."—Harper's Magazine.
